Laser Training with Dr. Larry Lytle

Note: the opinions and ideas presented in the "Laser Training with Dr. Larry Lytle" section of this newsletter are those of Dr. Lytle only. No medical treatment claims are made or implied by the manufacturer of this laser equipment, Business Wizards, Inc., QLaser Solutions, nor any distributor associated with this equipment. This equipment is sold and intended for veterinary use.

Could you please give me some protocols for Psoriasis and Vocal Cord dysfunction.

Psoriasis is treated the same as Eczema. Vocal cords can be treated the same as sore throat. Please see your Laser Users Manual for protocols for each.

Are there any protocols or frequencies you think might be helpful for Chrones disease?

To use the laser for Chrones Disease follow the directions on page 85 under intestinal problems.

Could you please provide some specific instructions for Age Related Macular Degeneration (ARMD).

First, have your Q1000 programmed with special ARMD frequencies (call your distributor for additional details.) Second, using the custom ARMD mode, hold the Q1000 over closed eyes for one cycle every other day for a week, then twice a week for two weeks, then monthly for two months. Third, after this period go back and have your eyes re-examined (and please let me know - through your distributor - what the results were.)

My cat has some tumors on the back of his tongue and down his throat. We think that he may also have one or two in his kidney or liver. While I had the Q1000 here I was able to laser his throat and abdomen a couple of days, and he obviously felt better. I am wondering if it is safe to use the Pegasus on the tumors. I know from reading that not all lasers would be helpful, and didn't know if the Pegasus is usable for this.

Yes, the Pegasus is safe to use in and for this condition. It was one of the first lasers I created, and is the predecessor to the current Q1000.

Hello Tom, I apologize - some how, I just got your phone message today from a week ago concerning your wife's pregnancy-related high blood pressure. I have worked with other women with this same condition. Have your wife take 400 Mg of Chelated magnesium along with 25 Mg of vitamin B6 - 1/2 in the morning, and 1/2 in the evening. Apply mode 3 of your Q1000 to the base of the skull for once cycle every day for one week, then every other day. Buy your own blood pressure cuff and monitor the blood pressure upon rising and immediately before bed in the evening. As the blood pressure improves, reduce the frequency of use of your Q1000. Remember, the medical profession has gradually lowered what they say is an acceptable blood pressure. The old parameters of 100 plus your age for the systolic ... and a diastolic under 94 ... are fine.

Laser Frequency Water

Dr Larry Lytle, July 2008

Are you caught up in the bottled water mania thinking that bottled water is safer and better for you than tap water? Are you concerned about our environment? If you answered "yes" to either of these questions, the following statements from "Bottlemania: How Water Went on Sale and Why We Bought It." by Elizabeth Royte will shock you.

- Americans spent nearly $11 billion on bottled water in 2006
- Pepsi, which owns Aquafina, spent $20 million marketing bottled tap water to Americans in 2006. Coco Cola has also admitted to using tap water in their brand of bottled water.
- In 2007, Americans drank over 29 gallons of bottled water each
- U.S. bottled water reached nearly 9 billion gallons last year
- Americans drink more bottled water than any other beverage except carbonated soft drinks
- Americans use about 1 billion bottles of water a week. 1 billion!
- A bottle that holds 1 liter of water requires 5 liters of water to make the bottle
- Expensive bottled water may have come from a well in an industrial facility parking lot. In fact, up to 40% of bottled water is plain old tap water and may or may not have received additional treatment. Plastic bottles are not safe and further deplete our oil reserves, contaminate our environment, use up our landfills or consume valuable resources to recycle them..

- It is estimated that for every plastic bottle manufactured, it uses the equivalent of about one inch of oil in the bottom of the bottle – that is 52 billion inches of oil a year. A good mathematician can compute how many barrels of oil this amounts to each year.

- Much of the bottled water is in polyethylene terephthalate (PET) containers, Antimony, a toxic element, leeches from these PET bottles based on exposure to sunlight, higher temperatures, and varying pH levels.

- One study that looked at 63 brands of bottled water produced in Europe and Canada found concentrations of antimony that were more than 100 times the typical level found in clean groundwater which is 2 parts per trillion. It also found that the longer a bottle of water sits on a shelf in a grocery store or in your refrigerator, the dose of antimony increases.

- The manufacturing process of PET bottles releases phthalates, which have been found to cause birth defects in animals.

- Plastic bottles of all kinds can leach chemicals like BPA into your beverage.

If you don't trust the municipal water source, then buy your own reverse osmosis filter and purify your own water and store it in a glass bottle in your refrigerator. This will only cost pennies per gallon. If you don't want to invest in a reverse osmosis unit then buy purified water delivered to your kitchen in 5 gallon glass bottles for around $1.00 a gallon or fill your own glass bottle at your super market for around 40 cents a gallon. Do the math. If you drink the recommended amount of water – that is 2 quarts (or more) of bottled water daily at a cost of from 40 cents up to $1.00 or more per liter, your yearly cost of drinking water is a minimum of $360 a year up to $900 a year per household member. You can buy the very best reverse osmosis water purification unit for less than what you would spend in one year on bottled water and be assured that you are getting good water. You not only save money and are assured of good clean purified water, you also save our valuable natural resources and stop polluting our environment with billions of plastic bottles.

In this article on water, I have saved the best for last. Researchers have known for generations that water has memory. This is made very clear in the movie "What the Bleep Do We Know". It features a section on Dr. Masaru Emoto and his Messages from Water 1 and 2. The Hidden Messages in Water.

Dr. Emoto has proven that thoughts, feelings and focused intentions through written and spoken words and music can change our water.

Essentially, Dr. Emoto captured water's 'expressions.' He developed a technique using a very powerful microscope in a very cold room along with high-speed photography, to photograph newly formed crystals of frozen water samples. Water samples from extremely polluted rivers expressed the 'state' the water was in.

Dr. Masaru Emoto discovered that crystals formed in frozen water reveal changes when specific, concentrated thoughts are directed toward them. He found that water from clear springs and water that has been exposed to loving words shows brilliant, complex, and colorful snowflake patterns. In contrast, polluted water, or water exposed to negative thoughts, forms incomplete, asymmetrical patterns with dull colors.

Since everything in the universe are just a little squiggly waves of light that Einstein called a photons that vibrate at various frequencies, then it stands that the thoughts, feelings and intentions captured by Emoto in his water crystals are also vibrations or frequencies.

Hannaman the father of Homeopathic Medicine over two hundred years ago based Homeopathic Medicine on the principle that water stores vibrations or frequencies and the body can utilize these frequencies when the remedy is placed under the tongue or else where in or on the body or even within the body's aura.

The new breakthrough in treating water is to use the Q1000 laser to apply frequencies to water. It is simple. Just apply mode three of the Q1000 laser to your glass bottle of reverse osmosis water for one cycle. The proprietary frequencies of mode three are now stored in the water and will be released when the water is consumed. Rather than use these proprietary frequencies of mode three, it is possible to personalize your frequencies and have them placed in your Q1000 by using my soon to be released book Innate Wisdom.

I have a theory that by applying two Q1000 lasers with complimentary frequencies opposite one another to a 5 gallon glass bottle of purified water; the amplitude is increased creating a soliton wave with a vortex of energy that is even more beneficial to the body. This theory is based on the fact that three underground streams of water come together at Lourdes, France and creates an undisputable healing energy that is not available from the individual streams. Some conventional or western medicine thinkers may pooh-poo this type of theory, but I remind the reader that much of physics is just theory including Einstein's theory of General Relativity.

The implications of treating water with frequencies from multiple diode lasers that can produce a soliton wave (a single diode laser regardless of the wavelength cannot produce soliton waves) create a new awareness of how we can positively impact the earth and our personal health.

Memory and Learning

Dr Larry Lytle, July 2008

Much has been written on memory and it still seems to elude most of us – at least from time to time. Goggle will expose you to 1,310,000 articles on memory of the human brain. My brain tires in just trying to calculate how many hours of reading that would take, but one thing I am sure of is that most of us will never read more than just a few of these articles and then we could not agree if they helped or not.

Dr Jonathan D. Cowan presents some theories of how the brain works in a report in Subtle Energies and Energy Medicine, volume 17, number 2 in an article entitled “Thought and Mind as the Projection of Mentaholomorphoric Fields by the Brain” This is quite a long title that can be simplified by applying the principles of the Q1000 to the brain.

Healers and mystics have been recorded emitting frequencies up to 200 Kilohertz ( ref - 2 and 3 ) EEG scans have shown that several types of rhythmic activity travels between the thalamus and the cortex at 40 Hz ( cycles per second) creating a scanning thalamocortical rhythm that Cowan refers to as a “brain laser”. Sheer refers to these 40 Hz frequencies recorded in the brain as “focused arousal” (ref 12). Cowan further postulates that 40 Hz activated the brains glycoprotein causing them to vibrate simultaneously which profoundly enhances learning and memory. Research done by minister and published in Nature(ref 43) supports this theory. Sederberg et al. found that applying 40 Hz to the temporal areas enhanced short term memory for words. (ref 44) Other research shows that stimulating cortical cells a more than 7 Hz enhances long term ability to transfer information across synapses (ref 45) This process is triggered by stimulating two inputs at the same time (ref 46). Extending Cowan’s theory, he believes that what is necessary to achieve greater learning and memory is to excite the brain with crystals or other materials to achieve resonant modes of vibration simultaneously..

Energy medicine and the computer industry are well aware of the energy vibrations of crystals and their effect on the mind, the brain and the body

A simpler, more predictable, more easily controlled source of energy transference to the brain to enhance learning and memory is the Q1000 laser. The Q1000 laser will be more effective when two lasers are applied simultaneously each programmed at 40 Hz, one applied to each temple with one laser programmed to start ½ second behind the other. The user should use my book Innate Wisdom to determine how long, how often and whether the left brain or right brain should be ½ second ahead of the other. This will depend on whether the individual is left brain or right brain dominant or has balanced brain hemispheres.

New Testimonials

I still own my old Pegasus. It does help, but I had a chance to use her Q1000 after my recent hip replacement surgery and it was awesome. On day 5 after surgery my leg from the knee up was swollen to about three times its normal size. I began using the Q1000 on mode 1 and on mode 3 and in two days the pain and swelling began to subside. I continued to use it daily for two weeks on the incision and on the areas that were the most painful or bruised. Then I used the Pegasus every day on the incision and the few remaining bruised areas. It has been just a little over 4 weeks since my surgery, and I am already walking with just a cane. I am about a month ahead of most people in my recovery process. Once again, cold laser has proven itself to me to be an invaluable aid in speeding healing. Penny Stone, Wimberly, TX

I too had a demonstration of how powerful the laser is. I twisted my ankle and fell on my left leg and left hand TH evening while walking – it really hurt. I rented immediately and used the Q1000 on my hand, knee and foot (three treatments each of 3 mins.). I would have expected to have dark bruises and scrapes on my knee and hand. When I awoke on Fri., I was amazed – no bruises, no marks at all on my hand and just little, already healing, scratches on my knee – no pain! When I pushed on my knee, I could feel it sore and after using laser again (for six mins.), that pain gone too! Carol Ann Driscoll, Honolulu, HI

I am pleased to report my Low Level Laser Q1000-4378 is doing better than I ever dreamed! Both of my shoulders have been operated on and due to the serious injuries, have been painful. I was sure it would require several treatments to recognize any results. Believe me when I say, after two treatments, the pain was gone. Sixty-seven years ago, I injured my right foot. The injury resulted in the loss of two toes and creation of two hammer toes. I have walked in pain on this foot ever since. After three treatments with the Q1000, walking is now painless. It was hard for me to believe, but it's true. GV Holt, Boise, ID

I have purchased the Q1000 a few months ago and have used it on my right carpal tunnel, right shoulder, left knee for aches and pains. I usually do the treatments at night before going to sleep and in the morning I feel significant relief and am able to function without the discomfort I have felt before. I have depended on pain pills before which gave me abdominal discomfort. Thanks for your innovative therapy. Lyn Mamaril, Vallejo, CA

In November 2006 I developed this tremendous pain in my ankle as though I had sprained it, but without a fall. I have osteoporosis, and wondered if it was connected. The hospital A&E were not concerned, and then it happened again a few weeks later, as if I had sprained a sprain. The physiotherapy I had made slow progress, so I consulted an orthopaedic surgeon who wanted to operate by breaking my heel bone to realign the foot, and take tendons from my toes to put them in my ankle. The diagnosis was Johnson's Tendinopathy, in other words my Achilles tendon was inflamed. Otherwise he said I might have to try having an iron brace on my foot. I was most reluctant to have an operation with so many delicate bones in my foot, and I was uncertain about my ability to handle a general anaesthetic given my dormant cancer. The thought of an iron brace did not appeal either. Dr Callebout recommended Low Level Laser Therapy, and that is what I decided to do. I started off with a pain level of 10/10, with the highest score being 10. In the beginning I could not touch my ankle without pain, and could not bear to have bedclothes touching it either. After three weeks of using the Q1000 and the 808 probe my pain level came down to 2/10, and the sensitivity to touch went. 50% of the improvement was in the first week, and after that it was more gradual. The inflammation has gone right down, and I can walk so much better. During the second month, during which I reduced treatment time considerably, the pain went entirely, except for a dull ache when lying in bed with bedclothes touching the foot. Muriel Robinson.
